1 They are grey with areas of black and white, and are the smallest dolphins in the world. Adults grow between 1.2 and 1.4 m long and weigh up to 50 kg. They are rounder than other dolphins and have got a round, black fin.

2 Fifty years ago, 26,000-30,000 Hector's dolphins used to live in the waters of New Zealand, but today there are only about 7000. If things don't change, this kind of dolphin will soon become extinct.

3 • Net fishing. Fishermen use nets to catch fish, but sometimes a dolphin may swim into a net. If the dolphin can't get out, it will die because dolphins need air to breathe.
• Boat users. If boat users aren't careful around these waters, they can harm or kill a dolphin.
• Water pollution. This can make Hector's dolphins ill. Also, they may eat rubbish, like plastic bags, and die.

Hector's dolphins live around the coast of New Zealand. They are one of the world's rarest and most endangered species.

- a. How many are there left?
- b. What can we do to help?
- c. What do they look like?
- d. What can harm them?

- 4 • Join an organisation that helps dolphins and other sea creatures.
- Keep the environment clean. If you see any rubbish, pick it up. If we continue to pollute, problems will get worse.
 - Don't try to touch or feed dolphins.
 - If you see a dolphin in danger, call for help.
