Mrs Jones teaches IT. Children have IT twice a week and teachers have it once a week. They ask her a lot of questions. Mrs Jones helps them make the best use of computers and interactive whiteboards.

(1)..... When she doesn't have classes, she designs programmes. "I get a lot of ideas from my students every week," says Mrs Jones.

Mr Jenkins comes to school at 7 o'clock every day. In the morning he first unlocks the front gate. In winter he turns on the heating and in summer he opens the windows. "The children are kind to me. Well, most of them. (2).....," Mr Jenkins says. He fixes taps or paints the walls. At noon he has coffee in the canteen. In the afternoon he repairs broken chairs or tables in his workshop. From time to time children bring a broken bike to him. He is always happy to repair it. He is very friendly and often smiles.
