Many things have changed over the past decades. Same can be said about the life of modern teenagers. Today teens are more independent, have other interests, and are definitely lazier than before. Computer is the root of most changes in the society. Modern teenagers spend almost all their free time online, playing computer games, chatting with friends, surfing social networks, instead of going out and doing some outdoor activities.

If you ask a teenager what the life was like twenty or thirty years ago, he won't answer, because he doesn't know. Modern children simply can't imagine their life without cell phones, tablets and MP3 players. These gadgets have gradually replaced the whole world of childish games and live communication. Previous generations of teenagers could still be seen in the streets jumping, running around and playing active games. Today, teenagers are mostly seen online. From the one hand, it's certainly not good. From the other hand, this can be understood. How can children avoid electronic toys if they are everywhere? Other than that, the life of teenagers is not easy. They have a number of problems, which they don't want to discuss with adults.

Relationship with friends

Sometimes friends stop finding common language, can't understand each other, and then they quarrel with each other. You must try to explain each other points of view, to be an easy-going person, to be kind and tolerant to others and it will be all ok with your friends.
