She is the third best-selling author in the world. Many of her novels and short stories have been filmed. The Mousetrap, her the most famous play, is now the longest-running play in history.

Agatha Christie was born at Torquay, Devonshire. She was educated at home and took singing lessons in Paris. She began writing at the end of the First World War. Agatha Christie became generally recognised in 1926, after the publishing of her novel The Murder of Roger Ackroyd.

Her way to present the stories was quite different from that of her colleagues. You can't find much blood and violence in her stories. The reader has to solve the mystery and decide who the murderer is together with the author.
